Millennium to Host Three Informational Open House Meetings to Discuss the Eastern System Upgrade Project

Pearl River, N.Y. -- The Millennium Pipeline Company today announced it is hosting three Informational Open House meetings to discuss the company's new proposed Eastern System Upgrade project. The project proposes to upgrade four components of Millennium's existing system, one each in Delaware, Sullivan, Orange, and Rockland counties. These upgrades will allow more affordable, clean-burning natural gas to flow to homes and businesses throughout New York and the region to meet growing energy demands.

"We are pleased to hold this series of informational meetings and continue our dialogue with communities as planning for this proposed project gets underway," said Millennium President Joseph Shields. "Millennium believes strongly in respecting landowners, the environment and our host communities, and these meetings are vital to gathering public input as we develop this project."

To provide the public with information about the project, Millennium has scheduled three Open House meetings in locations where upgrade work is proposed. The meetings have been scheduled as follows:

March 29, 2016

Hancock High School
67 Education Lane
Hancock, NY 13783
6:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m.

March 30, 2016

Kuhl's Highland House
512 Highland Avenue Ext
Middletown, NY 10940
6:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m.

March 31, 2016

The Sullivan Hotel
Rock Hill Drive
283 Rock Hill, NY 12775
6:00 p.m. - 8:00 p.m.

At the meeting company representatives and subject-matter experts will be available to provide information, discuss the project, answer questions and take comments. Representatives from the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission will also be available at each meeting to take comments and provide information on the regulatory process.
